Mr. Sunil Sethi, President, FDCI said, “Designers are at the forefront of the fashion revolution and constitute the core of the fashion industry. We expect some defining trends in men’s fashion to be set this year, which you will witness during Van Heusen India Mens Week. The response received so far from the designer fraternity has been overwhelming. I wish all the participating designers the very best as they gear up to participate at the Van Heusen India Mens Week 2010.”

Mr. Shital Mehta, Chief Operating Officer, Van Heusen said, “We are tremendously excited with the platform we’ve been able to create for men’s fashion in India. The response to the second edition of the Van Heusen India Mens Week from designers has been exceptional; one only needs to look at the line up for this year to understand that. What’s more, Van Heusen is working closely with some of them to make designer fashion accessible to a larger audience.”
